ABOUT FARHANA HEMMING

I Graduated from the Memphis College of Art with my second bachelor's degree in Fine Arts and have been working as a full time artist ever since.

My water colors stem from a centuries old style of Moghul Miniatures (same dynasty that built the Taj Mahal in Agra), as well as influences of the Pre-Raphaelites, Arts and Crafts and Art Deco artists such as Rossetti, Burne-Jones, Voysey, Macintosh, Bakst, and Paul Irebe. As miniatures were done with 24 karat gold, I had to research and develop my own technique in order to achieve the similar effect of gold coloring. My technique has since evolved and has developed further into metallics.

 My artwork should be kept away from strong light direct sunlight and moisture.*
